

Countering Christian Nationalism: Protect Our Democracy and Reclaim Christianity in the Public Square

Community Conversation and Action Planning for People of Faith

Thursday, October 15

6:00 – 8:00 pm

St. John's Episcopal Church, Oakland

What is Christian Nationalism? Why are so many Christians concerned about it?
How does it affect our democracy, our communities, and our understanding of the Gospel?

Join us for an evening of learning, conversation, and action as we explore the growing influence of Christian Nationalism and consider how people of faith can respond.

The program includes a viewing of the award-winning documentary Bad Faith (updated 2026 version), a light meal, updates on recent developments including Project 2025, discussion of how Christian Nationalism impacts both church and society, and small-group conversations about practical ways to engage and take action within your church, your denomination and as individuals.

Register by Mon Oct 12 (so pizza & materials can be planned) by filling out the form: <https://tinyurl.com/cnevent2>

Bring family, friends, neighbors. It's important for people to be aware of the intent and actions that are really going on behind the Christian Nationalism rhetoric.

Whether you are new to this topic or have been following it for years, all are welcome.

Questions? Contact: Marlene Yamashita (maryamca@att.net) or Dan Strauss (danjeffstrauss@gmail.com)

OCT-partner church St. John's Episcopal is located at 5928 Thornhill Drive. (Note: Their newer Thornhill Dr address provides easier entrance than the 1707 Gouldin Rd address listed in app maps.)